

Six measurements to evaluate improvements

- Percentage of patients that was screened within 24 hours after admission to hospital
- Percentage of patients in which nutritional intervention started within a day after the diagnosis of malnutrition
- Percentage of patients that was appropriately referred to a dietitian, based on the result of the screening
- Percentage of patients that reached their predefined nutritional requirements at the fourth day following hospital admission
- Percentage of malnourished patients on a ward
- Percentage of patients weighed twice weekly